You’re invited to Putting the Mouth Back into the Body, North Richmond Community Health’s multidisciplinary health conference.

For too long, oral health has been considered separate from general health. Without an integrated and cohesive healthcare system, valuable knowledge is lost and patients miss out. At Putting the Mouth Back into the Body, you will hear from ground-breaking experts across healthcare, and help form strategies to integrate oral health and general health in community health programs.

Ideal for GPs, dietitians, oral health clinicians, pharmacists, maternal and child health nurses, researchers and policy-makers.

This is the second annual conference in the Where the Mind Meets the Mouth series.

Registration is now open. To read the program and register, go to wheremindmeetsmouth.com.au.
